1) You don't need to get a very expensive camera. They have a lot of functions you just don't need. Do you understand what I mean?

2) But whatever camera you buy, read the instructions carefully. Make sure you know what your camera can do. Have you got that?

3) Always remember to keep still. If the camera moves, you get a bad photo.

4) Another thing to remember is to take your time. Only real professionals can take good photos in a hurry.

5) When you take a photo, the most important thing is the light. Basically, the more light the better, so choose the right time of the day and place. Do you get the idea?

6) Is that clear? Do you want me to explain any of this again?
